

Wargaming in the Eastern Pacific Workshop

A Sikorsky UH-60 Black Hawk helicopter is parked on the deck of an aircraft carrier. The helicopter is white with black accents and has a large rotor hub on top. The deck is dark with yellow markings. The ocean is visible in the background under a clear sky.

27 February - 1 March 2024

Kimpton Alma San Diego Hotel | San Diego, CA

Overview

We are pleased to announce MORS' second wargaming workshop! The main objective is to bring a focus on gaming topics of interest to the eastern Pacific region and its commands. Focus will mainly be on professional gaming (including wargaming) with an emphasis on the Eastern Pacific Theater but the mission sets of the Third Fleet and I MEF, (including support to civil affairs and their responsibilities as force providers to the Western Pacific Commands) will also be explored.

This four-day event will include lectures, unclassified and classified discussions, and active wargames.

Designed a Professional Game?

Have you designed a professional wargame? Submit an abstract for the opportunity to present your game at the workshop. If chosen, your game will be played by the participants on the third day, 29 February.

More details:

<https://www.mors.org/Events/Workshops/Wargaming-in-the-Eastern-Pacific-Workshop>

Call for Abstracts

We are now accepting abstracts for the opportunity to present. The main focus will be on wargaming in the Pacific Theater but will also cover topics such as gaming military support to civil authorities, support to NORTHCOM, overseas disaster response, and climate change.

Submit your unclassified abstracts on any of the topics below or one of your choice:

- Homeland Security Gaming
- Pacific Gaming
- Humanitarian Assistance Gaming
- Climate Change Gaming
- New Technology and Ideas
- General Wargaming

Abstracts may be submitted under the Abstract tab of the workshop webpage:

<https://www.mors.org/Events/Workshops/Wargaming-in-the-Eastern-Pacific-Workshop>

Or Contact:

Ms. Tina Yan, Director
Professional Development & Publications
tina.yan@mors.org